FEATURES

The Black Bullet has an impressive list of features that have been specifically designed after extensive consultation with unlashing personnel

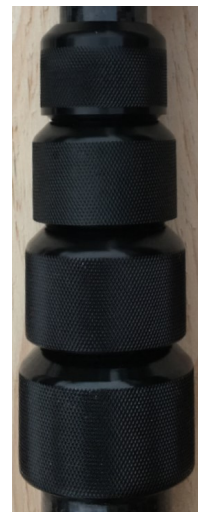

CARBON FIBRE TELESCOPING TUBES

Carbon Fibre is half the weight of aluminium with twice the tensile strength. It is the premium material for use in telescopic actuator poles.

ANODISED ALUMINIUM COLLETS

Specifically machined aluminium collets easily lock each tube together. A clockwise turn tightens the collets while an anti-clockwise turn loosens the collets.

EMBEDDED HEIGHT INSTRUCTIONS

To simplify the extension process, each pole has been embedded with the height combination of containers that can be unlocked from that position and includes every combination of containers up to and including 6 x 9'6

EMBEDDED COLOURED TAPE SHOWS WHEN NEARING THE END OF THE POLE

Embedded yellow tape signifies 400mm until the end of the pole, embedded red tape signifies 100mm to go and not to extend the pole further.

LUBRICATION NOT REQUIRED

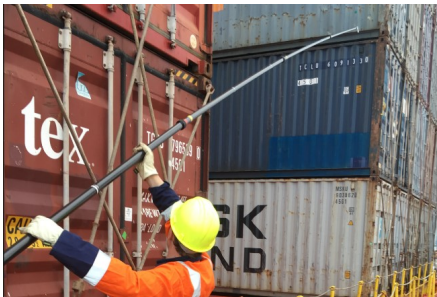

As the Black Bullet is made from carbon fibre lubrication is not recommended. Carbon fibre does not experience the sticking issues of aluminium.

ONLINE TRAINING VIDEOS

To ensure unlashing personnel and managers maximise the features of the Black Bullet, online training videos are available on YouTube that cover how to use, how to maintain and strategies to maximise the investment.

ROTATION IRRELEVANT

The Black Bullet tubes can freely rotate inside each other as the embedded instructions and embedded warning coloured tape can be viewed anywhere on the pole.

UNLOCKING TOOLS

The Black Bullet comes with whichever tool unlashing personnel prefer. Two options are currently available but we can manufacture to your specific requirements.
